MEDICINAL.

"I thank Dr. Pierce for the kind advice he gave when I wrote to him."

"I am thankful to the friend who first recommended your medicine," writes Mrs. A. M. Brooks, of Southfield, Fayette Co., Pa. "We have a twelve pound baby, three weeks old. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' before baby came, and the time was only one hour and a half. Have had five children, and before this always had a severe time, lasting two or three days, and never was able to do any work for about two months afterward. Now I am doing all the work for four children. My friends say I look better now than ever before. We told one of my sisters to take 'Favorite Prescription,' which she did, and when her child was born the time of suffering was very short. She has better health now than she has ever had, some years ago. We cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicine enough. I thank Dr. Pierce for the kind advice he gave when I wrote to him. I never felt better about your wonderful medicine."

The benefits resulting from a consultation by letter with Dr. Pierce are testified to by thousands of grateful women who have been made new women by his medical advice and fatherly counsel given absolutely without cost or fee.

THE MANN LIQUOR BILL.

The Legislature, through the passage of the general revenue bill, which now only awaits the signature of the governor in order to become a law, and which carries with it the Mann liquor amendment and the high license section, has placed some rigid restrictions upon the liquor business, both in the city and country districts.

The whole system of taxing liquor dealers and of granting them licenses has been changed. The tax, for instance, on social club members has been doubled. Under the present law it is $1. The new bill makes it $2 up to the point of $350 for any one club and when it reaches that point it stops, as this is the amount of a regular city barroom license. Club licenses are to be obtained in the same manner as barroom licenses.

Another sweeping innovation is the raising of all liquor licenses from $200 and $100 to $350 and $175, according to population.

Still another is the provision put in by Mr. Folkes making it mandatory upon judges to revoke the license of any person convicted of Sunday liquor selling, and in addition thereto the offender is subject to fine and imprisonment. The same provision applies to those who are convicted of selling to minors.

But, perhaps, the most sweeping of all is the Mann amendment, which applies to the rural sections of the State, and to towns of under 500 inhabitants, watering places, seaside and mountain resorts being exempted.

The gist of the bill is that it requires a person applying for license to sell liquor in the territory named to secure the signatures of a majority of the qualified voters of the magisterial district where such license is sought before he can appear in court for his license. The right of appeal is afforded to both sides under the present court system, but no appeal will be on either side from the decisions of the new circuit courts.

Judge William Hodges Mann, the patron of the amendment, was asked Saturday night for a statement concerning its effect upon the liquor business of the State and he prepared the following:

"According to my recollection, the estimate may not be entirely accurate, the estimate made by the finance committee of the Senate was that there are nine hundred saloons in the cities and about eleven hundred in the counties and towns.

"Of these, while the saloons in cities and towns over 500 population will not be affected by the Mann bill, it was estimated that about one-fourth would be closed in consequence of the increase in the license tax. The committee also thought that of the town and county barrooms, there were about three hundred in the towns having a population of over five hundred, which would leave about eight hundred to come under the operation of the bill just passed. Some of these come under the exceptions to the bill, and it will, therefore, be fair to say that some seven hundred or seven hundred and fifty will be directly affected, and all of these will be in the country where there is practically no police protection, or in small towns where the protection afforded is likely to be inefficient. I think most, if not all, of these saloons will be closed. It is, of course, understood that unless the public demand for legislation of this character is very strong that it cannot be enforced, and is not likely to prove beneficial.

Under that view the bill which has just passed was not introduced before Christmas, and was not passed until public sentiment, in my opinion, became so strong that I felt justified in asking for its passage. That members of the Legislature agreed with me as to the wishes of the people they represented is manifest from the vote which the bill received. The temperance people are going to see that the law is enforced, and do not contemplate the formation of any new organization, but expect to make their fight, if further legislation shall be thereafter desired, inside of the democratic party, of whose action towards them there is no complaint."

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

The Balkan situation is still occasioning anxiety in Europe. A dispatch from London says: "With the inevitableness of fate the course of events in southeastern Europe shapes without pity or deviation toward a great sanguinary struggle. Like many another crisis which has ushered momentous changes in the destinies of races an unforeseen event has broken in on the calculations of statesmen with such force that it prompts to precipitate all their delicately balanced considerations down the road whose only end is war. In the present situation this event is the murder of Mr. Stcherbina, the Russian Consul at Mitrovica, Albania. Allowing for the contrast in political conditions it may be said broadly that the shot which ended the Russian agent's life had in it on Turkey's dominions in
